This class is a requirement prior to recommendation to the FAA to all AT-CTI students who began with Vaughn in the Fall 2008 or later.

Note: This class will be a cumulative review of the basic skills covered in the program. Students will be tested at the end of this course as part of the overall screening process. This course will not only assist students in reinforcing the material covered during the program, but also serve as a refresher course before students enter the FAA Academy. The review course will be taught over 40 hours. To pass, students need to score a grade of 80 or better on the screening exam and must be declared a graduate before passing this class. In the event that you are not declared a graduate you must retake the entire class; there is no additional charge for repeating this class. The course grading will be a “P” for satisfactory course completion or an “F” for unsatisfactory course completion. The screening exam will be given the final day of the review course and opportunities will be offered so that students will be allowed to retake the exam. This course is delivered on campus only. We will allow students who have declared to graduate admission into this course (course must begin after you are declared a graduate), please make sure all academic and financial obligations are handled before the course ends.

You are required to fill out AT-CTI forms once you begin taking AT-CTI classes. This is an FAA requirement, and not doing so may make you ineligible for hiring by the FAA through the AT-CTI program. Please download, complete, and return the forms to the Vaughn College AT-CTI program coordinator to get on the AT-SAT list. Check back to make sure that your name has been added to the list BEFORE you graduate. Please remember that after you graduate you are required to fill out a recommendation request form (not doing so will make it impossible to get hired by the FAA) and you should also request a copy of your transcript be sent (see How to forward a transcript to the FAA).
