Instructor: Ron Ruggeri

This class is a requirement for all AT-CTI students who began with Vaughn in fall 2008 or later.

Note: This class will be a cumulative review of the basic skills covered in the program. Students will be tested at the end of this course as part of the overall screening process. This course will not only assist students in reinforcing the material covered during the program, but also serve as a refresher course before students potentially enter the FAA Academy. The review course will be administered online via SAKAI. To pass, students need to score a grade of 80 or better on the screening exam and maintain an 80 average on all 31 review sections of the course. Student will have up to 45 days to complete the course. The student must be declared a graduate before passing this class. In the event that you are not declared a graduate you must retake the entire class. The course grading will be a “P” for satisfactory course completion or an “F” for unsatisfactory course completion.

The screening exam will be given after successful completion of the 31 modules of study. There will be two opportunities to take this screening exam. We will allow students who have declared to graduate admission into this course (course must begin after you are declared a graduate), please make sure all academic and financial obligations are handled before the course ends.
